

HINCKLEY UPDATE

A free monthly newsletter provided by the Hinckley First United Methodist Church July -Volume 7- 2023

There is a story in the Bible where a guy named Abraham sees some travelers and welcomes them in from the heat of the middle eastern summer and lavishes them with generous hospitality. Much to his surprise, it turns out that these traveling figures are not just regular Joe's but the very presence of God in the flesh. You can read the whole story for yourself if you're interested in Genesis 18.

In her book An Altar in the World, Barbara Brown Taylor discusses the everyday practice of being with other people, and how in this coming face-to-face with others, we should "at least entertain the possibility that this is one of the faces of God."

C.S. Lewis goes even further in his sermon "The Weight of Glory," by saying that there are "no ordinary people" and that you and I have "never talked to a mere mortal." In fact, "next to the Blessed Sacrament itself, your neighbor is the holiest object presented to your senses... for in him also Christ... is truly hidden."

At Hinckley First United Methodist Church this summer we are discussing practical ways we can encounter God "in the wild." During the summer months when we are out of our normal routine, traveling on vacation, or spending a weekend at a baseball game we may be surprised to find God in even these places. And one of those places we have an opportunity to see God, if we really pay attention, is in the face of the people we encounter.

So I want to invite you, the next time you're stalled at the construction at Dauberman and Route 30 to look into the rearview mirror at the person in the car behind you, or when you pop into the Hinckley Fresh Market and are patiently waiting while the cashier rings up your groceries, or when you're on a boat in the middle of a lake and another boat floats by... Look at those people, and anyone else you randomly come across, or subconsciously watch. Look at them, and look past the outward appearances and the judgments that so quickly form, and look deeper to what is inside. Perhaps they are not ordinary, after all. Perhaps, theirs is one of the many faces of God.

Cathy Bartels Receives Service Award

At the HHS annual meeting last month, the board presented its service award to Cathy Bartels in recognition of extra-ordinary contributions to the organization and assistance in pursuing its mission. Cathy was the driving force behind organizing the museum's recent expansion. She also directed the creation of new displays focusing on significant events from each of the 20 Decades of Hinckley's history. The award is named after Ken Bushnell and Dolores Bastian who had the vision and energy to form HHS in 2007 and establish a museum.

Summer Band Concert Series Continues in July and August

Bring your lawn chairs and picnic basket for more of our Ravinia-style summer music concerts on the Community Building lawn. The July 11th program features the Fox Valley Brass Band and on August 8, Shade Tree Music will entertain the community. Concerts start at 6:30 p.m.

The Fox Valley Brass Band performs music for brass instruments in an entertaining and engaging style. It also promotes the new works of contemporary composers through both original compositions and transcriptions. The group consists of 30 volunteer musicians from around the Fox Valley chosen not only for their outstanding musicianship, but also for their willingness to support and create educational opportunities for youth.

The Historical Society is sponsoring the free concerts for the second year to celebrate the history of music in our community and encourage youth to learn to play an instrument. Funding is made possible by a grant from the Fanny R. Wurlitzer Foundation and Illinois Humanities.

Four Board Members Elected at Annual Meeting

The HHS Board of Directors are elected at our annual meeting to set policies, develop programming, and guide operations of the society and museum. Two current board members were reelected and two new members joined the board. Hinckley natives Ardith Trumpy and Cathy Bartels were elected to serve another three-year term. They both joined the board in 2020. New to the board are museum educator Stephanie Shelton and businessman Jay Yaggie. The board is now comprised of nine members.

Write Short Memories for Our Collection

The Historical Society is participating in a state-wide project to capture short stories of life in our community and you are invited to join-in. We are seeking memories about a specific topic like life in Hinckley, on the farm, at school or what you did for fun while growing up.

Don't worry about your writing style or perfect English. Plans are even being developed to record some of the stories on video for showing in our museum theater. The project will draw attention to the varied experiences of residents in an era of cultural change and increase our understanding of how our community developed. Send your submission on just one or a few pages to the address listed. Feel welcome to submit several different memories.

Our museum, located at 145 East Lincoln Avenue, PO Box 486, Hinckley, IL 60520, is open Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. or by appointment by calling Bob (815-761-4058). Follow us on Facebook. Email: Hinckleyhistoricalsociety@gmail.com. Visit our web site: HinckleyHistoricalSociety.com.

HBR CUSD #429 Updates and Highlights

Greetings Hinckley-Big Rock Community,

I am honored to introduce myself to you as the new Hinckley-Big Rock CUSD#429 Superintendent. Since joining the HBR administrative team 5 years ago, I have not stopped talking about how amazing it is to be a Royal! When people ask me what I love about working in HBR schools, I simply say “it feels like home.” I grew up in a small coal mining town in central Illinois with a population of just under 800. Pick up baseball games, bike rides until the street lights came on, chasing fireflies, and neighbors who knew and looked out for everyone shaped who I am today. My first “real” job was detasseling corn and, as many of you know, there is nothing quite like being in a cornfield at 6:00 am with sharp wet corn stalk leaves slicing your hands to build character! I attended a high school of 250 students in a neighboring community with several other feeder grade schools. Prom walk, homecoming parades, pep rallies, and Friday night bonfires are pieces of attending a small high school that live fondly in my memories. The students, staff, and community were truly a family. Sometimes we didn’t get along or like each other much, but in the end, we had love for our community and each other. Celebrations, traditions, wins, and losses were shared together and strengthened the relationships among us. As I reflect on the past 5 years that I have been privileged to be a part of the HBR429 school community, it is these similar relationships, traditions, and experiences I have witnessed here that have me feeling like Hinckley-Big Rock is home.

As an educational leader, my goals are deeply rooted in the belief that all students are entitled to a high-quality, well-rounded, and individualized school experience designed to help them develop the skills they need to succeed in their future endeavors. I also believe that the schools are the hub of the community and I seek to engage and connect with all of you. Our team wants to partner with families, community members, and local businesses and organizations to support the growth and development of our students and to serve our community. If you do not have children attending our schools but would like to receive regular school district news and updates via email, please sign up at <https://tinyurl.com/HBR429News>.

Please join me for a Meet & Greet on July 19 or stop by the school district table at the Hinckley Business Association ice cream social on August 9 to say hello. Your input is welcomed as we renew our vision and purpose. I invite you to share your feedback with me so we can continue to find ways in which to enhance and refine our practices. Please contact me at jsonntag@hbr429.org or 815-286-7578 to schedule a time to connect, or submit feedback via email.

Downtown Flowers Need Cool Water

Perhaps you've noticed the colorful flowers placed along Lincoln Avenue in the downtown area by the Hinckley Business Association and individual businesses. They bring smiles and a warm welcome to Hinckley. The HBA receives help with the plantings from the HBR--FFA and Schollmeyer Landscaping of Big Rock. Lions Club members have volunteered to keep the HBA plantings hydrated which is no small task this year. It brings to mind a trivia question of who first recorded the song "Cool Water" in 1941?

Contact Lion Secretary Mark Bernhardt (mark.bernhardt@gmail.com) for more information and the trivia answer. Lions meet on the first Thursday of the month at 7 p.m. in the backroom of J&K's Half Moon.

High School Teacher Honored for Excellence

While the community takes pride in the quality of all our school district teachers, staff, and administrators, recognition from an outside source can add validity and sometimes financial reward. Congratulations to Tracey Sanderson, HBR high school teacher in agriculture and FFA advisor, who was recently honored as one of five Excellence in Education Award recipients in DeKalb County.

The annual awards honor exceptional teachers in elementary, middle and high school levels; administrators; and support staff who have inspired a love of learning in students and play an active role in their schools and communities. Nominations are a joint effort from teachers, administrators and the community of each school district in the county.

Sanderson uses the broad career options of agriculture to help students find a purpose for education and apply that knowledge for a satisfying career. She utilizes her summertime out of the classroom to gain knowledge, skills, and information that will be useful in her classes.

Sanderson was recognized last spring by the HBR school district as one of four leaders in education. It was the first time the district presented such recognition to showcase the quality of educators in the district. Sanderson has taught at HBR for 10 years.

The county recognition program was created in 1999 by the DeKalb County Community Foundation through the generosity of Yvonne Johnson, a retired Sycamore school teacher. Award winners received $1,000, mementos, and public recognition at a reception on June 28.

Village Board Makes Effort to Control Noise

Trains may make the most noise in Hinckley but the Village Board has taken action to control other loud noises and music within the village. An amendment to the village Noise Control Regulations now requires anyone planning to create outdoor sound or music to limit the sound traveling to residential property to no more than 65 decibels during the day and 50 decibels at night. Exceptions are allowed for louder sounds from radios in homes or in private vehicles, and for sounds from a parade.

Commercial businesses holding a retail liquor license within the village are allowed to amplify music and entertainment during specified hours and as long as the amplification is not audible more than 300 feet beyond the property line of the business.

Anyone planning to create or amplify outdoor sound or music which might violate the ordinance must apply for a permit and acknowledge an understanding of the regulation. Violations of the ordinance shall be subject to a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500 for each offense on separate days. Also violators will not be able to apply for another permit for 90 days.
